Welcome to Grenoble

Eric Piolle

Mayor of Grenoble

Grenoble is proud to host UNICON! It is always an honor to host an international event in Grenoble. After the 1968 Olympic Games, the 1982 Davis Cup and the 2019 Football World Cup, you are now part of this legacy.

However, today's major sporting events today are a reflection of the contemporary challenges facing us. A few months ago, France concluded the Beijing Games with 26 medals. The Olympics showed the urgent need to turn toward international competitions that promote peace and equality and that are in line with the climate emergency.

This is where UNICON is a forerunner: you are both balancing athletes and well-balanced people! With 35 disciplines, from the most accessible to the most extreme, from the most individual to the most collective, you practice on all terrains and you are open to one and all. This is the path we must take: top-level sports performances that allow for community impact and that are catalysts for empowering sports practice for all.

This summer you will allow many Grenoble residents, of all ages, to discover a different approach to sports. In fact, UNICON reflects the vision of Léo Lagrange, a pioneer in the thinking on time off. He was the first under-secretary of state for sports and organisation of leisure activities in the Front Populaire government in 1936.

In the context of the European Green Capital year, you are setting an example in your intention to include UNICON in the COP21 trajectories. Drastically limiting waste, encouraging soft mobility and not promoting polluting companies through sponsorship, that's also what it means to reinvent the future of sport!

Finally, in line with the vision of France's leading cycling city and at the crossroads of the Alps, you will contribute to a playful, joyful and positive look at low-impact and active travel.

For all these reasons, I welcome you to Grenoble.

Happy UNICON 2022 to all of you!

an eco-event

Unicyclists are rather eco-friendly... right?

To limit its environmental impact, we are committed to reducing the carbon footprint of the 20th unicycle world championship. Our initiative has already been rewarded by 3 labels:

- The Développement durable, le sport s'engage® label, awarded by the CNOSF (French National Olympic and Sports Committee);
- The Grenoble capitale verte européenne 2022 program;
- The Ecofest label, created by the ImpAct association of Grenoble Ecole de Management (GEM)

For these efforts to bear fruit, we need you! How can you become true eco-participants? Here are some ideas suggested by our Green Team to get you started: To move around, ride your unicycle or take advantage of free public transport in the Grenoble area. Forget plastic water bottles, you can fill your reusable water bottle any time during the event. Think of reusable containers for your meals, give preference to local food, and finally, sort your waste.

Give a strong signal for the future generations and the future of unicycling: it's up to you!

ituated in the Rhône Alps region between the mountain masses of Belledonne, Chartreuse and Vercors, Grenoble offers a spectacular panorama. As an innovative and pioneering city, the Capital of the Alps has been able to reinvent itself throughout its two thousand years of history. From the Revolution to the Resistance, visitors can discover a fascinating history and a rich cultural life.

The Bastille of Grenoble

The best way to discover the city is to take the famous "Grenoble bubbles". Since 1934, the Bastille cable car enables you to go up and admire the view from the terrace of the 19th-century fort. It's the first urban cable car in France! From up there, Grenoble and the surrounding mountains unfold in front of your eyes.

The Grenoble Museum

The Grenoble Museum is a unique complex that ranks among the most prestigious European cultural institutions. Its collections, ranging from ancient Egypt to contemporary art, are remarkable for their variety and quality.

Strolling around the city

Grenoble is a city where you can enjoy strolling between architecture and nature. You can visit its historic center, with its medieval streets and Haussmann-style squares, the antique dealers' district which is full of shops and galleries, or the banks of the Isère which are ideal for enjoying the dolce vita... On the Championnet side, you may be tempted by the restaurants and cafés. If you are looking to relax, then take a trip to the parks of the Caserne de Bonne eco-neighbourhood.

Mountain walks

Grenoble is the perfect base camp for all mountain-related disciplines. Many activities and hikes start directly from Grenoble or can be accessed via the extensive public transport network. From the forests of the Chartreuse, to the lakes of the Belledonne, to mountaineering in the Vercors, Grenoble has something for everyone!

Specialities from Grenoble

As for gastronomy, you shouldn't miss the Halles Sainte-Claire, a roofed market where you can find all the delicacies from Dauphiné and the surrounding region. Cheese, of course, but also the famous Chartreux fathers' liqueur or the tasty Noix de Grenoble.
